

Shaver Curtains Keeps Refrigerated Trucks Cool

A major Canadian pizza chain sought a way to reduce the amount of cold air escaping their delivery trucks during stops in an effort to lower their energy costs.

Shaver recommended and installed thermal curtains into the delivery trucks to help prevent the cold air from escaping. Shaver also ensured that the curtains were easy to move when not in use so that the loading process could be completed more effectively.

Shaver's thermal curtains proved to meet all of the customer's needs and helped the trucks run more effectively, saving on energy dollars and cool air lost during the hot and humid days of summer.
